The team behind the JML is the communications office at the Jesuit Conference of Canada and the United States.

They meet kindred spirits all the time: Writers, podcasters, videographers, painters and other creators whose lives and work have been shaped by encounters with God through Ignatian spirituality. These are our people.

They have started the Jesuit Media Lab to gather, form and unleash these creators. Everything we offer is open to the public, whether you're formally affiliated with the Jesuits or not.
